PLUMBING ORDINANCE KNOCKED OUT

ST. LOUIS HAS OVER MILLION VOTES; JUDGES THROW OUT ALTERED BALLOTS

DUPLICATE VOTE ISSUE IS DECLARED VOID

COLLEGE PUPILS ARE REJOICING

St. Louis Had Many Workers.

There is much rejoicing at the St. Louis College among the Brothers and boys, and among alumni members over their glorious victory in the organization contest. Victory is strikingly sweet to them because it was not anticipated. Until the very last their workers hoped to secure standing no higher than second at the final count.

Manuel Peters and J. Goetz carried news of the victory to the annual reunion of the St. Louis Alumni held Saturday night at a little past ten o'clock, and the news was greeted with deafening cheers by every one present.

St. Louis owes victory mainly to Manuel Peters and to six or seven other trip candidates as well as the wide-spread interest and desire that the college should get the Starr Plane.

From the first issue of organization ballots until the last, everyone of Peters' preference votes were cast for his alma mater, but not only for this, he is mainly responsible for the victory; for what he could not give in votes himself, he secured by skillfully gaining the support of other candidates for St. Louis.

Seeing defeat in the tremendous totals that the Kamehameha boys were rolling up for every office count and realizing that he could not hope to bring the college to success alone, Peters turned to look for organization votes from some other source. Like a skillful politician he advanced first on known friends, though opposing competitors. His first move was upon the Y. M. C. A., an organization that is closely related by ties of sentiment to St. Louis. The action brought him, practically the withdrawal of the Y. M. C. A. from the race and made J. Goetz a voter for St. Louis. By the combined efforts of Goetz and Peters the St. Louis totals began to gradually increase in keeping with the steady gains being made by the Kams. But even with this aid it soon became apparent that the Kams had a lead that no two trip contestants working for St. Louis could overtake.

McTighe up to this time a worker and voter for the Red Men was approached and asked to swing his support to the college. McTighe, hesitated only long enough to get the consent of the few Red Men who had shown any interest in their organization gaining a prize. The organization contest had then so shaped that it was realized that the Red Men had small chances of winning so this consent was readily given.

This change in the voting of McTighe was made at the most critical organization contest period, just preceding the end on June 17th of the later-contest for the grand prize ballots.

McTighe's subscription orders with those of Peters and Goetz gave St. Louis one more subscription club than secured by the Kams and St. Louis got the 250,000 grand prize ballot and forged ahead to the lead for almost the first time during the contest.

Following this and in the last week of the contest Mrs. Lewis withdrew her support from Royal School Alumni, after having given them almost two hundred thousand votes, on account of receiving so little support in return. She then began having her preference votes issued for St. Louis. From this support, Mrs. Lewis for

Judges' Affidavit

Satisfactory evidence being produced that Evening Bulletin ballot coupons of issue of numbers 754 to 784 and 851 to 881 were duplicate issues and that both had been cast, we declared the duplicate vote issues of voting coupons from 851 to 881, inclusive, as void. The totals of the duplicate vote for each candidate, as shown in the stub of the duplicate coupon book, were added up and deducted from the final total of the contestants.

Forty or more altered ballots that had unquestionably been altered, were thrown out and not counted, as altering of ballots is an infraction of the contest rules.

Contest Rule 5, covering the transferring of ballots, reads:
"Votes cannot be transferred from one contestant to another when once a ballot, nor can one candidate's name be substituted for another."

St. Louis, the college gained over a hundred thousand votes and it is these votes say the Kams that brought them defeat.

Miss Kate Woodward was another candidate who voted for St. Louis and a considerable gain was made on account of many Bulletin readers requesting when making regular subscription payments, that the organization votes be made out for the college.

Kams Not Losers.

Should a candidate withdraw from the contest the votes will also be withdrawn. Votes once withdrawn cannot be recovered.

After the final count of ballots in the Evening Bulletin's Ten Trip Travel Contest and Organization Contest made on this date, we find the totals as shown next to the names of the contestants as correct and award the ten trips to the ten contestants with the most votes, and the piano, phonograph and $100.00 furniture order to the organization candidates in the order named, St. Louis College, the Kamehameha Alumni Association and the Eagles.

Kamehameha, long the friendly opponents of St. Louis on the athletic field, sometimes the winners, sometimes the losers—but if the latter, always "good losers," have their defeat for first place solaced by a most satisfactory and valuable second prize.

Loyalty of members to the alumni was the dominant strain noticeable throughout their strenuous contest. Campaign for the piano and all who

SPIRITED IS CONTEST CLOSE

Spirited competition for subscriptions among all the leading candidates during the day, with a hurried flurry of demand for ballots in the last thirty minutes, two difficult questions for the decisions of the judges and the big vote of St. Louis College, were the most significant incidents in the close of and final count of ballots in the Bulletin's 1911 Expansion Year Contest on last Saturday night. Effect of Late Moves Different.

Strategic, sensational moves made in the finishing hours of the contest, did not in number and extent from those of past contest closes—but in effect did; results of late action in other contests has often brought victory—in this one it tended to strengthen the former standing of some candidate who had all along been among the ten leading ones. During the day confidence of the contestants was constantly shaken by rumors of some stored up reserves, and many were the candidates, who hastened out to gather in more subscriptions to meet an attack from a source which they thought threatened.

Monuments to Their Effort.
Mute but notable monuments to educational ambition and dignified effort are the tremendous totals of the ten fortunate people who have secured the Bulletin mainland trips. Today, ten people are the possessors of transportation and hotel orders that make possible a happy summer vacation of travel. Only two of the ten, however, have been to the coast.

Among the ten successful trip contestants at least six have won a double victory because not only have they earned trips but their favorite organizations are to be the recipients of three valuable prizes as a reward.

FREAR'S CHOICE, INDORSED

Governor Frear's choice for land commission, Charles S. Judd, was today indorsed by the Republican Territorial executive at a noon meeting. After the meeting, it was announced that Judd's indorsement was unanimous, although there were well-defined rumors last week that there was opposition to his name. The committee further indorsed W. Kauai license commissioners, W. H. Rice, Sr., George Wilcox and W. B. McBryde.

AFTER ALLEGED SMUGGLERS OF "DOPE"

Charles Kaina, a police officer of Hilo, was committed today for trial by U. S. Commissioner George Davis, who is conducting the preliminary hearing on the smuggling of opium into Hilo. Kaina's own commitment is the result of the investigation of the charges that members of the police force of Hilo are in the "opium ring" alleged to operate on the Matson Navigation Company and American-Hawaiian boats.

The hearing before Commissioner Davis was resumed at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Engineer Barker of the Wilhelmina, whose testimony a few days ago brought out charges against the Hilo policeman, is on the stand this afternoon.

SUGAR MAGNATE TELLS OF DEALS ON COAST

(Associated Press Cable.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 26.—John D. Spreckels, president of the Western Sugar Refining Company and the Spreckels Sugar Company, today declared before the Congressional investigation committee that he believes the removal of the tariff on sugar will result in the ruin of the sugar industry.

Spreckels' testimony today formed one of the most interesting chapters in the present investigation of the alleged sugar trust. He testified that the Western Sugar Refining Company in 1903 paid $150,000 annually for the plant of the California-Hawaiian company, which was losing money, with the proviso that the Western Sugar Company get all of its sugar. The plant was closed for three years. He said he was advised that the transaction was perfectly legal, and upon questioning stated that he thought the lease was destroyed in the San Francisco fire. He said the factory could have been used if necessary.

LABOR LEADERS MUST ANSWER FOR CONTEMPT

(Associated Press Cable.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 26.—President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor, Morrison and John Mitchell, former president of the United Mine Workers, have been ordered to answer for contempt of court before Justice Wright of the district Supreme Court on July 17. The order grows out of court proceedings in which the labor leaders were involved.

PRACTICAL WORK FOR COMMISSION

At 4 o'clock this afternoon the sanitary commission will meet in the Chamber of Commerce rooms to take up three important municipal questions—water, sewerage and street grades. Through J. L. Young, one of the engineers of the commission, the Department of Public Works has completed maps showing the present status of the water, sewer and streets systems of Honolulu, and the commission will work with concrete knowledge of conditions now as a basis.

Chairman Carter said this morning that the commission has finished its inspection tours for the present and the work for the immediate future will be in getting all of the data boiled down and in form for practical use. The commission is planning its work with the idea of incorporating in its report to the Legislature maps, statements, figures and all kinds of statistical information that will be available for use and will back up any recommendations the commission may make.

Plumbing Law Held Invalid

Three important and most essential sections of the city and county plumbing ordinance are invalid, according to a decision of the Territorial Supreme Court handed down this morning in the case of the Territory against Furubayashi. The opinion of the court is written by Chief Justice Robertson and it holds that Sections 2, 3 and 4 of the plumbing ordinance are invalid for the reason that the provisions for the registering, licensing and bonding of persons to do "any plumbing work" are not expressed in or suggested by the title of the ordinance.

The title of the ordinance is "An ordinance providing for the appointment of a plumbing inspector of the city and county of Honolulu, prescribing the powers and duties of such plumbing inspector, establishing rules and regulations for the plumbing and drainage of buildings and the construction of house sewers in the city and county of Honolulu, and prescribing penalties for the violation of the ordinance."

HEALTH BOARD TO ACT ON $250,000 CAMPAIGN AND NEW APPOINTMENTS

The policy to be adopted by the Territory in carrying out its work under the $250,000 appropriation by the last Legislature will be considered at length at an important meeting of the board to be held tomorrow evening. At this meeting the whole plan of campaign will come under consideration as will also the assignment of the Board of Health forces for the new biennial period beginning on the 1st of July.

President Mott-Smith stated this morning that it has been reported that ten new sanitary inspectors would be appointed with salaries of $90.00 a month. This report, he stated, was a mistake for as a matter of fact there will only be four appointments made.

"I do not know what the opinion of the board will be on this problem," stated the chief of the health department this morning. "It is a question whether the new places will be filled by promotion or by new blood."

On July 1st there will be sixteen sanitary inspectors under the health department instead of six at present. The larger number includes the inspectors from the City and County who are working in with the scheme as planned by the Territorial authorities.

REORGANIZATION OF GARBAGE DEPARTMENT TO BE RESULT OF CLEAN-UP DAY REVELATIONS

Three thousand tons of garbage removed is the immediate result, and a reorganization of the municipal garbage department is the probable outcome of Honolulu's first general Clean-Up Day.

E. A. Berndt, chairman of the executive committee that managed the big civic movement, and the man whose energy and efficiency in its success, deserves potent factors in its success, declared this morning that the work of last Saturday, yesterday and today itary reasons.

shows that a reorganization of the garbage collection system of Honolulu is coming. And practically every citizen who helped in the cleaner city battle seems to think the same way.

"The garbage collection must be made more general. Free garbage collection for the whole city is the plan," said Chairman Berndt.

Honolulu's garbage system, say the leaders in the Clean-Up Day movement, falls because there is no compulsory garbage regulation. The householder who wishes to have his garbage disposed of may either hire a private cart to have it taken away, or call up the city garbage department and have it done free of charge. But the householder who does not want to pay for getting the garbage hauled away does not have to. The garbage may stay unless the Board of Health declares this morning that the work of last Saturday, yesterday and today itary reasons.

Department Loses Now.
Harry Murray, chairman of the Board of Supervisors, in response to a question stated to the Bulletin this morning that the city is running the garbage department now at a loss of seven or eight hundred dollars a month.

"Our department collects about $1,000 monthly for carting away garbage," (Continued on Page 4)

Kauai's girls are making themselves famous in the athletic line. When the Kauai basketball league opened its series on June 19, a team of young ladies from Waimea defeated a man's team from Koloa by the score of 12 to 10, and not only won the game, but outclassed the men in every department.
